

Women of Wayne

Alumnae Valerie Newman, Sultana Nurun Nahar, Catrina Hurst and Barbara Phillips are recognized in April at the Women of Wayne Headliner Awards. The awards are presented annually to Wayne State alumnae whose achievements have made headlines in the media. For 47 years this event, held at the Western Golf Club in Redford, has honored Wayne State women who have made their mark in society. This year's honorees were Catrina Hurst, Bus. '01, founder of Cole's Castle Learning Center of Performing Arts; Sultana Nurun Nahar, Ph.D. '87, a research scientist in the Department of Astronomy at Ohio State University; and Valerie R. Newman, J.D. '92, assistant defender in the State Appellate Defender Office. Barbara Phillips, Urb.Labor '89, received the Women of Wayne Service Award for her service to the organization.

The Women of Wayne Grosse Pointe Chapter in March sponsored its annual fashion show, which benefits the Women of Wayne Incentive Scholarship Fund for Wayne State students. The Grosse Pointe Chapter board members — Marti Miller, Theresa Lorio, Joan Wright, Georgianna Imbriaco, Santina Miller, Lisa Popovich, Rose Hauck and WOW President Laura Kystad — volunteered to model fashions from Dress Barn.
