Dear Dr. Nahar:

On behalf of The Graduate School, I am pleased to send you the enclosed certificate recognizing your outstanding work as a Postdoctoral Scholar at The Ohio State University. Of course the real reward of postdoctoral work is in the research and scholarship that the experience provides. However, we also want to leave you with formal documentation of your accomplishment.

In your work here, you have contributed to the mission of Ohio State in many ways. As President Gee has said, the mission of the university is teaching, research, and service. In the library and laboratory, and in seminar and informal discussion, you have had a lasting positive influence on graduate students and young professionals just beginning their careers. For this we thank you. We hope that your postdoctoral experience has been personally rewarding and that it will have a significant influence on your professional development.

Keep in touch with us as you move through the ranks of your chosen profession. We want to maintain contact with our "postdoctoral alumni" to follow your success. Write to William J. Collins, Associate Dean of The Graduate School and Postdoctoral Coordinator, as you attain notable milestones in your career or change addresses.

Best wishes in all that you do. Thanks again for your contribution.

Sincerely,

Roy A. Koenigs knecht
